Industry Hums Again As Coal Miners Return

Supreme Court To Give Ruling On Lewis Case.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Industry headed back to normal production today with the return to work of virtually all the nation's soft coal miners.

As miners picked up the tools they laid down 19 days ago and prepared to dig coal for a fuel-hungry nation, other industries which had begun to shut down resumed full work schedules, ending the enforced idleness of thousands.

Meanwhile the legal battle developing from the coal strike continued undiminished. John L. Lewis and the government put their dispute in the hands of the U. S. Supreme Court.

There was no doubt that the high tribunal would assume jurisdiction in the contempt conviction against Lewis which resulted from the 17-day walkout of his 400,000 miners.

* * *

Predict Lewis Slap.

There was growing belief in legal circles that the Supreme Court ultimately may castigate the UMW president for the mine shut-down but set aside the judgment of the lower court.

The high court's decision will establish whether Lewis will have to pay a $10,000 personal fine and the UMW a three and a half million dollar fine for refusing to halt the walkout in accordance with a district court restraining order.

Lewis' action Saturday calling off the walkout resulted in quick revocation of government orders designed to prepare the country for a long fuel famine. These included a freight embargo, a lighting "brownout," and parcel post restrictions.

GOVERNMENT WILL TRY TO END STRIKES

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government pushed for an ironclad no-strike pledge in key industries today, in the wake of its victory over John L. Lewis in the coal strike.

Officials opened the drive in the hope that the administration's handling of the mine shutdown might persuade other unions to seek peaceful settlement of labor disputes in vital industries or risk painful punitive measures.

The initial no-strike pledge effort was directed at the public utility field. Representatives of unions and management in the gas, power, light and municipal transportation industries were summoned to a meeting (at 10 a. m. E. S. T.) to consider a plan for voluntary arbitration of disputes without resort to strikes.

The conference was arranged by a labor department advisory committee composed of representatives of the AFL, CIO, National Association of Manufacturers and U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Plans 'Peace' Meetings.

Additional "peace" meetings in other industries where strikes could imperil the national economy are planned soon by the committee, which functions under auspices of the labor department.

Some labor leaders conceded privately that the administration's stand against Lewis may discourage another round of strikes in the steel, automobile and similar major industries which have contract agreements expiring in the next few months.

These leaders noted that as long as the Smith-Connally War Labor disputes act remains in effect, President Truman has the power to seize plants or industries where strikes are in progress or threatened.

JAP NEWSMEN QUIT

TOKYO —(INS)— Three executives of one of Japan's most influential provincial newspapers resigned today after General MacArthur's headquarters announced receipts of complaints charging the publication with "Communist tendencies." In the paper, the Nishi-Nippon which is published at Fukuoka on Kyushu Island, has a circulation of 530,000.

Yule Lights In Park To Be Turned On Tuesday Night.

Holiday lights in Central park will be turned on Tuesday night, it was announced today by V. H. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants association.

Workmen were busy today completing the installations and connections which were held up by the brown-out order. Lodde said it was hoped this work could be completed tomorrow. Not all the laurel rope has arrived although it was ordered six weeks ago, but at least all of the lights that are ready are going on tomorrow night. Others will be switched on as the work is completed.

With all dim-out restrictions lifted, merchants were preparing for a record-breaking Christmas shopping season, accented by gaily-lighted shop windows.

Railroads reported "pre-strike" passenger schedules resumed, with the exception of two Pennsylvania trains which will be returned to service tomorrow.

Joy A. Herbert, Ohio Public Service company manager here, said employes had been working "day and night" since the end of the strike connecting display illuminations blacked out by government orders.

* * *

Street Lights Back.

All white-way street lighting was turned on for the full period from dusk to midnight after settlement of the strike Saturday, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said.

Coal dealers heaved a sign of relief and awaited their first coal shipments from the Pennsylvania and Ohio fields. All retailers reported little or no coal in stock, and said they did not expect normal shipments for several weeks.

Pennsylvania's Train 126 for Pittsburgh at 4:12 p. m. and 117 to Detroit at 4:24 p. m. will not resume schedules until tomorrow, but 13 other trains which would have been cancelled yesterday had the miners not returned to work remained in service.

Herbert praised Mansfield merchants for their cooperation during the emergency. He said that despite the Christmas shopping season, retailers' most profitable season, all "cooperated grandly" with the brown-out orders.

UNITED RENEWS BID FOR SERVICE

The Civil Aeronautics board had under consideration today strong bids from the city and United Air lines for through east-west air service for Mansfield.

United, taking exception to the previous findings of CAB examiners, who recommended denial of the company's application, emphasized that Mansfield would be a "logical addition" to its coast-to-coast network.

The airline proposed to supply service to Mansfield, Marion and Lima, connecting with routes in Chicago and Cleveland.

In addition, the company would provide a link between these cities and such major points as New York, Washington, Chicago, and other large cities from coast to coast.

In the city's brief, it was pointed out that Mansfield urgently needed an east-west link, and took exception to the board's previous recommendation that only a north-south feeder service be provided.

One other airline, Trans World, has applied to the CAB for Mansfield service.

WRECKAGE IN WHICH TWO DIED—James H. Patterson, 24, and Harold E. Tygard, 23, both of New Philadelphia, were killed Sunday when their Fairchild "Ranger" training plane plummeted to the earth on the R. B. Gardner farm, six miles northeast of the city, near U. S. Route 42. The broken and twisted wreckage of the plane is shown here at the edge of a small lake in front of the Gardner lodge on Bowen road, where it crashed after tearing down power lines and spinning into a tree. ## Officers Find Victims Dead In Broken Ship

Investigators Express Belief Motor Failed Before Former Army Training Ship Fell.

Two New Philadelphia men were killed yesterday afternoon in the crash of their Fairchild PT-19 airplane on the R. B. Gardner farm, six miles northeast of Mansfield, near U. S. Route 42. Investigating officials expressed belief today that motor failure caused the accident.

The dead:

James H. Patterson, 24, World War II glider pilot and instructor, and member of the New Philadelphia Flying club.

Harold Eugene Tygard, 23, Metropolitan Insurance company agent.

State highway officers said they found both men dead when they arrived at the scene, five minutes after they were summoned at 3:35 p. m. They said the Fairchild army surplus plane, popularly known as a "Ranger," had torn down a telephone line and crashed into a tree near the Gardner lodge on Bowen road.

Word of the crash spread quickly and hundreds of persons visited the scene before darkness fell.

The bodies were removed to the Jones Memorial for burial preparations. They were taken to funeral homes in New Philadelphia and Dover today.

* * *

Witnesses to Crash.

Witnesses to the crash were Mrs. Cleta Figley of Ashland; F. W. Brokaw, Bowen road resident, and his two sons, William, 20, and Raymond, 13.

Brokaw said he was in his yard, about a fourth-mile from the lodge when he saw the plane "just drop to the ground.

"The plane was headed northeast when I saw it drop," Brokaw said. "It sounded as if the motor had stopped when it nosed down."

William said he and his younger brother rushed to the scene immediately. He said the plane's motor started up just before the ship hit on the edge of the pond in front of the lodge.

"The man in the back seat (Patterson) was dead when we got there and the man in the front seat (Tygard) lived only three or four minutes," William said.

"The man in front was pinned in so tight we couldn't have got him out without tools and we didn't have any," the youth continued.

* * *

Visited Port Here.

Mrs. Henry Patterson, the dead pilot's mother, informed the News-Journal today that her son and Tygard left the New Philadelphia airport "around 10 a. m." Sunday to "look over the Mansfield airport."

Patterson held a private pilot's license and instructor's rating. Patterson's father said his son was injured critically in an army airfield crash in Texas in 1943.

Tygard, it was reported, had no flying experience.

The plane was jointly owned by Patterson, Bernard Deioma of Dover, and George Meineger of East Sparta.

Patterson was employed as assistant manager of the Puritan Laundry and Dry Cleaning company, owned and operated by his father.

Besides his parents, he leaves his wife, Helen. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the Broadhurst funeral home in New Philadelphia, with burial in Evergreen Burial park.

Tygard leaves his wife, Edith; two children, a son, two years, and a baby daughter, seven weeks' old yesterday; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Tygard, all of New Philadelphia. Funeral services will be held at the Toland funeral home in Dover Wednesday afternoon with burial also in Evergreen Burial park.

PASTOR, WIFE ESCAPE DEATH

Automobile Struck By Train at Railroad Crossing Near New London.

A 76-year-old New London minister and his wife, 74, were seriously injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding was demolished when struck by a train at a grade crossing near New London.

Two other persons were slightly injured in another automobile accident over the weekend.

Rev. Charles M. Fisher and his wife, Lillian, were in Shelby Memorial hospital today after their car collided with a westbound Big Four train at Cowie crossing, two miles northeast of New London, at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Rev. Fisher received a broken leg and arm and multiple cuts and bruises and Mrs. Fisher sustained severe cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries, hospital officials said.

The accident occurred when Rev. and Mrs. Fisher were on their way to church at Brighton, where Rev. Fisher supplies the pulpit. He had stopped at Cowie crossing for an eastbound train but failed to see the approaching westbound train.

The locomotive struck the car in the middle and demolished it. Rev. and Mrs. Fisher were taken by ambulance to the Shelby hospital because of overcrowded conditions at the hospital here.

* * *

Retired Minister.

Rev. Fisher is a retired Congregational minister. He and his wife have lived in New London for the past four years.

Russell Leroy Goddard, 25, of 188 Park avenue east, was admitted to General hospital for treatment for lacerations of the body and possible fractured skull and his wife, Irene, was treated for multiple lacerations of the face and contusions of the right knee in a two-car crash at East First and Hedges streets early yesterday.

Driver of the other car, John Sickola, Lexington, R. D. 1, told officers that he was going east on First street and pulled into the intersection when the car driven by Goddard crashed into the side of his car.

Larry A. Mills, 18, of Vermilion, escaped injury, but the car was heavily damaged when it overturned on County Road 13-A along the west side of municipal airport at 7:45 p. m. yesterday, the state highway patrol reported.

RUSSIA GUARDS ARMS SECRETS

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—Russia unexpectedly refused early today to accept a proposal for a United Nations inventory of armed troops at home.

In a surprise move, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov demanded deletion of a home troop census from a resolution already approved by the powerful 54-member U. N. political committee.

His action, taken at an assembly plenary session at Flushing Meadow Park, threatened to reopen the whole question of troop dispositions.

Previously, at the committee stage, Molotov had agreed to taking census of both domestic forces and those on foreign soil.

Delegates who had come to the session prepared to debate the British plan were so surprised and unprepared for Molotov's action that the plenary session was recessed until tomorrow at 4 p. m. EST).

HOME TOWN EXPRESSES APPRECIATION—

Maxwell's Return Brings $2,300 For Record Hospital Program Gift

A capacity crowd of 1,500 filled the First English Lutheran church last night to hear Richard Maxwell, one of Mansfield's native sons, and, in appreciation, contributed $2,300 to the Veterans Hospital Programs, for which Maxwell and his co-workers are on tour.

It was the largest single contribution ever given to the organization, Maxwell said today.

RICHARD MAXWELL

Probably for the first time, many of the crowd heard of the program's work under the guidance of the Protestant Churches of America. Maxwell is a member of the board of directors and Pat B. Withrow, jr., who supervised last night's program, is national director.

* * *

IN EXPLAINING THE WORK of the Veterans' Hospital Program, Withrow told of Maxwell's part in the project as well as the experiences which units have had in the army and naval camps and hospitals for the last five years.

Withrow pleaded fervently for continued support of the program, which, while a vital part of the entertainment project during the war, is even more necessary now that the war is over and USO and other entertainment groups have discontinued their tours, he declared.

"There are 106 veterans' hospitals in the United States," Withrow said. "We hope to reach all of these but it will be impossible to do so without your aid."

* * *

INTERSPERSING MAXwell's and Withrow's talks were songs by both and by Miss Helen Benner.

Miss Benner's part in the Veterans' Hospital Programs is an interesting one. Withrow related that she was ready for her debut with the Metropolitan Opera company of New York but gave up the promise of an operatic career when she realized the vital importance of the hospital programs for veterans.

She has a lovely mezzo-contralto voice and is a brilliant accompanist.

From Mansfield, the three went to Bellevue hospital today and on to other Ohio towns. Next Tuesday they will leave for New York and their homes for the holidays. On Jan. 5, they will start south, Maxwell taking one unit and Withrow, another.

Miss Benner will accompany Maxwell on tour of southern veterans' hospitals.

BLASTS SHAKE CITY TWO DAYS

SHANGHAI —(INS)—Some specific word on the number of casualties in the thunderous munitions explosions which rocked Shanghai over the weekend was expected today.

Estimates placed the number of dead at well over 100 but the danger from continuing explosions of bombs and shells prevented an accurate tally. Property damage estimates ran well into the millions.

Chinese authorities said that 20,000 shells and bombs were stored at the Kiangwan housing and recreation area where the blast took place only eight miles from the heart of Shanghai, China's largest city.

An entire company of Chinese government soldiers was believed to have pershed when the earth-shaking and spectacular detonations got their start. No Americans or other than Chinese were believed victims of the mass disaster.

The blasts startled Shanghai residents in mid-afternoon tasks Saturday and continued through the night, lighting the skies with flames reminiscent of air raids—familiar to the metropolis in wartime. The explosions continued sporadically through Sunday.

STUDENT MISSING

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Search was continued today for Hugh Danaceau, 17, of Shaker Heights, missing from the Ohio State university campus since Thursday.

Comet Rocket To Split Sky At 3,500 MPH

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—A white comet with a tail of flame 100 feet long will streak across the sky above White Sands, N. M. at midnight (EST) Dec. 17.

Astronomers who witness the strange, man-made phenomenon will see a shower of brilliant meteors shoot out from the rocket at 10 second intervals. From this novel experiment, scientists hope to gain new knowledge about outer space.

The comet rocket will be traveling at a speed of approximately 3500 miles per hour when it lets off its showers of meteors. It will fire them at heights of from five to 40 miles.

M'LAREN FLEES BY GOING DOWN BEDSHEET ROPE

John McLaren, 39, a former Mansfielder who fought with Gen. Patton's army in Europe and fled the burning Winecoff hotel in Atlanta, Ga., early Saturday, described the fire as "the worst thing I ever saw, even in the war."

McLaren, southern sales representative for the Tappan Stove company, wired business associates here today that he slid down a bedsheet rope to a firemen's ladder from the fourth floor of the hotel soon after the alarm was sounded.

JOHN McLAREN

"I was one of the first out of the hotel, and I'll never forget how awful it was to see parents throwing their children from windows of the burning structure," McLaren said.

McLaren, who had tried earlier to get a room in a nearby hotel but failed, got out of the fire with only his pajamas. He suffered shock and minor bruises and was recovering today at the home of D. A. Crawford, vice president of the Atlanta Gas Light company. He was expected to be able to leave the home by tonight.

McLaren, who formerly lived at

Mystery Package Holds Four Hands

PITTSBURGH —(INS)— Allegheny county police today were confronted with a "stranger than fiction" horror mystery, following the discovery of four human hands along a roadside in Ohio township, near Pittsburgh.

Police said 13-year-old Joanne Ward, and three companions, made the discovery on a Sunday morning walk when the girl's small dog dragged a package from the underbrush.

Nation In Midst of Biggest Shopping Spree In History

(By United Press)

The nation was engaged today in the biggest Christmas shopping spree in history.

Officials of big department stores in a score of cities reported that early pre-Yule sales had jumped 20 to 30 per cent above last year. Business was half again as great as in the last pre-war year.

With 14 more shopping days remaining, buyers mobbed department stores, women's shops, sporting goods and electrical appliance stores, intent on buying hundreds of items available in limited quantities for the first time in five years.

Prices varied on all types of gifts, with electrical goods, lingerie, bicycles and home furnishings up considerably over the pre-war levels. Many other items, particularly non-steel toys, books and games, showed little change.

In the toy department, clerks sold all the electrical trains, tricycles, wagons and erector sets they could lay their hands on. Durable goods, such as radios, electric irons and toasters disappeared as fast as they appeared on the counters.

But nylon hose, and men's shirts and pajamas were as hard-to-get as ever.

THERE'S STILL NO COLD IN SIGHT

While temperatures in the 60's, reported yesterday in Mansfield and throughout Ohio, probably won't stay much longer, there's no cold wave in sight on the weather map, forecasters said today.

Temperatures were high all over Ohio Sunday. Mansfield high was 60, the low today was 48.

But such balmy weather is not expected to stay long. Overcast skies will bring showers by tomorrow afternoon and it will be cooler by tomorrow night, forecasters said.

Winchell — On Broadway

OUR NATIVE COMMUNISTS have always been perched like vultures over the American scene. And today they have a happy gleam in their beady orbs. The current political dissension and economic dislocation is their red meat . . . Just watch them licking their chops over chaotic conditions. They have never ceased their feverish plotting for the day when they can swoop down on democracy and devour it . . . Just listen to Communist Chief Wm. Z. Foster's brazen pop-off: "The Communist is unscrupulous in his choice of weapons and allows no consideration of legality, religion, patriotism, honor, duty, etcetera, to sand in the way of his adoption of effective tactics."

* * *

Like all the other subversive rodents, the Communists pose as rootin', tootin' Yankee Doodlers. But nothing could be more fraudulent. Their spurious patriotism should hoodwink only low-grade morons . . . Foster once informed a Congressional Committee: "The workers of this country and the workers of every country have only one flag and that is the Red flag. The most advanced workers in this country look upon the Soviet Union as their country." There it is in black and white.

* * *

Communist party babblers are ready to hop on the nearest soapbox and froth about capitalism. But few of its chumpy members realize that the Communist network here is a big business . . . They own publishing houses, scores of mags and gazettes, a chain of retail book shops and their own insurance company. Communists own schools, pleasure resorts, houses and restaurants. They control film-producing and film-importing agencies . . . And that is just a sample of their internal cartel. The Communist racket grosses millions annually by fleecing suckers.

* * *

A booklet on religion issued by Communist headquarters in New York contained this: "The priests of every cult have their own way of deluding the masses: The Jewish Rabbi, the Roman Catholic priest, the Russian Orthodox priest, the Mohammedan mullah, the Evangelist, the Baptist, and other ministers of religion, each has his own way of fooling the people. We must therefore convince the masses Communism and religion cannot go together."

* * *

Ilya Ehrenberg, the Russian editor who recently visited here, has written a scathing book against the U. S. He states in it that the iron curtain is a wall of lies built around Russia by the American press. As a matter of fast, comrade, isn't your Kremlin wall a curtain of lies built around the Russian people by the Soviet press. As a matter of fact, comtruthfully, wouldn't you be shot?

* * *

Some time ago the local Commissars published the program of the Communist International. The CI hatches the strategy for its auxiliary organizations plaguing every nation . . . The program contained these words: "The party must neither stand aloof from the daily needs and struggle of the working class, nor confine its activities exclusively to them. The task of the party is to utilize these minor, everyday needs as a starting point from which to lead the working class to the revolutionary struggle for power. The mass action includes a combination of strikes and armed demonstrations, and finally the general strike conjointly with armed insurrection against the State power."

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—All the bitter criticism of John L. Lewis that were being heard could have been uttered when he was the political ally of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Lewis has not changed. His methods and principles are the same. And the powers by which he called the strike of his subject miners are no greater today than they were when teams of trained goons, many of them Communist street-fighters, were terrorizing state-wide areas and lesser regions of the automobile trade, the Little Steel centers and Akron. Roosevelt gave Lewis those powers, knowingly and with full understanding of their extent and none of those who now disown Lewis on any grounds but still revere Roosevelt can deny that historic fact.

These same objections to Lewis' conduct that are heard today were heard in those days but were howled down by the Roosevelt government and its political subsidiaries and proteges as the cries of American Fascists.

Roosevelt is dead, but this really frightening danger to the power of elected government here and to the faint hope of recovery in Europe is his bequest to the nation whose constitution, on four occasions, he swore to uphold, including its purpose of insuring domestic tranquility and promoting the general welfare.

Roosevelt is dead, but Senator Robert F. Wagner, who gave his name to this terror, still lives and is silent in the presence of the peril that his law put upon a nation which gave him refuge first from conscription by the kaiser of his native Germany and, later, from Dachau. Felix Frankfurter still lives, a justice of the supreme court by Roosevelt's appointment, who heartily approved the Roosevelt alliance with Lewis and all that kind and he, too, against warnings of the consequences to a generous nation which saved him not merely from the concentration camp but, almost certainly, from the gas chamber.

IT IS WRONG, it is dishonest to abuse Lewis today. He is not to blame. We do not blame a man for asserting his rights under law and, whatever the courts may decide as to whether Lewis has technically overreached his rights, there have been many cases in which individuals claimed rights under phases of law which had not been clarified. He thinks he is within his rights, and the courts may finally decide that, after all, he was, and with Frankfurter concurring.

If Roosevelt, in creating this monstrous power as a favor to a political protege, was false to his oath to guard domestic tranquility and promote the general welfare, what can Wagner say now to reconcile his law with his own professed purpose to promote interstate commerce? How tranquil were we and how well off while in the grip of the coal strike, caused by the personal decision of one man.

During the strike we have heard, as though it were news, that Lewis is a dictator over the wine workers. But he was a dictator when Philip Murray, now the president of the CIO, and an enemy of Lewis, was one of his subordinates on the national roster of the United Mine Workers. Roosevelt knew all about his union and his methods and knew he was a dictator. We have heard that the miners were not consulted as to whether they should strike. Is that news to anyone? Were they ever consulted? Did Senator Wagner heed warnings during the debate on his law that boss unioneers would have the power to throttle all interstate commerce by calling out workers without consulting them and to throw millions of others out of work and onto the dole at the expense of state treasuries? Can Wagner say that he was unaware that his law contained no protection for the workers and the public against arbitrary decisions by ruthless dictators, Communist or Fascist revolutionaries or common underworld gangsters?

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—I have spent one hour and ten minutes at a press conference, where I understood not one word. I have before me an 80-page document which reaches its high point with the flat statement: RSI (one minus RC) plus RC equals RNI plus RSI.

Twenty other correspondents attended this meeting. They received this same blue-bound document. They took voluminous notes, but I regret to report they have suppressed the news. They have written nothing. These timid cohorts of mine claim that unless they know what they are writing about, they cannot write. Haw! And a couple of haws!

That theory is preposterous as I intend to prove immediately with an essay on the postwar corporate tax structure. The background simply is that there have been complaints from citizens fed up and, or, flat broke from being two-timed by the tax collectors.

* * *

THE TREASURY CALLED the conference to discuss methods of taxation, double and otherwise. This gathering was held in a room with turquoise colored walls. There were three oil paintings on same. The chairs were soft.

Louis Shere, a small man with a red necktie, arrived with both arms full of papers with figures on them. He is the acting director of tax research. With him was Richard Goode, a youngish fellow with eyeglasses. He wrote the report.

"Now about this formula (the one at the beginning of this dispatch), just what does it mean?" the experts were asked. Here are their answers, verbatim:

Goode: "That's for them as likes equations."

Shere: "We need a blackboard for that one."

They had no blackboard. They changed the subject.

MY FELLOW correspondents, I must say, had interested expressions on their faces. I tried to conform, but I could not. To hide my shame I gazed through the window upon the leaf rakers in President Truman's back yard. They were professionals.

"Now let us turn to the charts," began Shere. There was a rustling of pages as the reporters sought Page 41.

I looked at the charts. Shere explained them. When he had finished this, he said:

"These charts are intended to serve as aids. You may find them rather forbidding and confusing. In that case I suggest you just ignore them."

I turned to the window. Those fellows on the White House lawn were fortunate; no charts to worry them. Only leaves and a breeze.

COURT ACTION BY CITY JUDGE IRKS PASTORS

Steubenville Ministers Take Official to Task.

STEUBENVILLE —(U.P.)— Municipal Judge William D. Downer today was under fire of members of the Steubenville Ministerial association, six of whom took him to task in Sunday sermons.

The Rev. Norman Nygaard, leader of the association's campaign against crime, denounced Judge Downer as a "correspondence school jurist."

The ministers tomorrow night will learn whether city council has granted their request for special police powers that would enable them to conduct personally a war against "organized vice, gambling and corruption," in Steubenville.

Legislation that would grant police powers to 12 ministers and 20 young war veterans will come up for final reading and vote at tomorrow night's council meeting.

The attack on Judge Downer came as an answer to a statement he made when he judged innocent a man arrested for loitering Nov. 25.

The judge said in his statement that "these continuous senseless arrests of persons at the instance of some fanatic, or group of fanatics, has no place in the administration of justice. If some person, or group of persons proposes making a continuous farce of public justice, there must be some malicious intention."

Rev. Nygaard, in his reply, cited a verdict rendered by Judge Downer as "characteristic." The case involved an alleged drunken driver whose car hit another car, seriously injuring one young person and hospitalizing three others.

Rest of the building cost will be paid by Mansfield manufacturers through the Richland Foundation, a charitable trust group. The settlement house, designed to accommodate 1,500, will be located on three lots on North Mulberry street, between Aten way and Vale avenue. The lots were given to the Friendly House by Carl Sternbaum, 165 Vale avenue, as a memorial to his son, Lt. Jacob Sternbaum, killed in a plane crash in World War II. The campaign, to run through Jan. 15, will be headed by Paul Endriss, chairman; Dean Dickerson, vice chairman, and Coleman Todd, publicity manager.

U. N. ACTION ANGERS FRANCO

MADRID —(U.P.)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco, speaking from the balcony of Oriente Palace to a mass meeting of 100,000 persons said today that Spain would not tolerate foreign interference in Spain's internal affairs.

The meeting was summoned as a national day of protest against United Nations deliberatins on the Spanish question.

Franco attacked all "enemies of our crusade," singling out in particular Premier Jose Giral of the Spanish republican government in exile.

The United Nations, he said, have questions of peace to settle but Spain has the right to benefit from her internal victory without interference from the outside.

The protest day was organized by government supporters who warned that the present menace to Spain's sovereignty parallels the threat of 1808 when Napoleon invaded Spain. They revived the cry "Spain is in danger" which was used to rally the people against Napoleonic invasion.

State To Build New Highway Garage West of Mansfield

A new Richland county garage for the state highway department is to be built on a half-acre site about one mile west of Mansfield on State Route 30-N, Clarence G. Tugend, county superintendent of the highway department, said today.

Grading operations on the site are nearly complete and construction should begin soon, Tugend said.

Badly needing space for storage of trucks and other highway equipment, the department is planning a garage approximately three times as large as the old building now used on North Diamond street.

In addition, eight to 10 bins with a capacity for storage of 2,400 tons of cinders stone and other materials are to be constructed. The main building, besides providing storage for some 18 trucks, five weed mowers and two power graders, will contain a modern repair shop, offices, stock rooms and a boiler room, Tugend reported.

A spur from the Erie railroad tracks, on the north of the site, is to be built as soon as grading operations are concluded.

Because the site lies about one mile beyond Mansfield's sewage and water lines, a water supply well and an independent sanitary system will be constructed.

Tugend said no cost estimate on the buildings is available as yet because it has not been decided how much of the project is to be built by the department and how much will be advertised for bids of private contractors.

The grading, being done by the Ohio Engineering company, however will cost approximately $9,900.

Preceding her talk, a half hour of musical selections was presented. It included a violin solo by Jane Anne Stonebumer and accompanied by Marilyn Green; vocal solos by Marilyn Green with Herbert Davis as the accompanist and Mrs. Edna E. Alexander, accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Cline, and a piano solo by Herbert Davis.

City Guarding Against Fires

Fire Chief L. J. Steele said today that every precaution is being taken here to guard against the kind of a catastrophe that struck an Atlanta, Ga., hotel Saturday, resulting in the loss of 129 lives.

Monthly fire inspections are made of all establishments in the business district, Steele said.

"We don't single out any one class of business establishments such as hotels for special inspection, but we are always glad to oblige with additional inspections if the management requests it," fire chief said.

"Owners and management of hotels in Mansfield have been very cooperative when we have made recommendations," Steele reported.

Up and Down The Street

MORE GIFTS NEEDED—

Christmas is rapidly approaching and the stream of gifts going to Richland county's juvenile court for eventual distribution to boys confined to the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster is still very low. R. W. Carroll, probation officer, reported only three or four gifts, donated by the Fortnightly Thimble club of Mansfield, have been received so far. Each year the juvenile courts of Ohio are asked to obtain Yule gifts from the public to help cheer the boys' holiday. Although there are only seven Richland county boys in the institution, the total BIS population is approximately 2,000. Carroll said almost any kind of gift suitable for boys in their 'teens will be gratefully accepted.

DOUBLE-SHELLED EGG—

It's not so unusual to find an egg with a soft shell today, however, Fireman John Fleming brought to Central fire station what appeared to be a large soft shelled egg, but with a somewhat harder shell floating inside. Fleming said the odd egg was among several purchased at the Charles Beechler farm on the Honey Creek road.

MORE TOYS—

There'll be a lot of kiddies in Mansfield who will have Christmas toys this year because a lot of older folks are remembering the less fortunate youngsters. Miss Eva Leonard, children's librarian at the Public Library, who conducted a used-toy collection at the library last week, said today that seven "big" boxes of playthings were picked up by the Volunteers of America Saturday. These toys, Miss Leonard said, will be repaired and painted by the VA workers and distributed to needy families at Christmas time. The librarian added that toys were continuing to flow into the library today and that by late afternoon she expected to have two or three more boxes filled.

GROUP TO MEET TUESDAY, MAP FUND CAMPAIGN

2-Story Structure to House Up to 1,500; Finance Drive to Open Dec. 16.

With the first draft of Mansfield's new $235,000 Friendly House down on paper, campaign procedures are scheduled to be mapped at the first meeting of the general campaign committee Tuesday night.

The drive for $60,000 — the agency's share of the building cost —will open Dec. 16 under the general chairmanship of Paul Endriss, Dean Dickerson as vice chairman and Coleman Todd as publicity manager. The campaign will be the first of "Operation Tomorrow," long-range civic-improvement program of the Richland Foundation.

Russell Gimbel, director of the Friendly House, said yesterday that receipts from the sale of the present settlement house, will boost the agency's share in the proposed plan. Remainder of the expense will be borne by Mansfield manufacturers through the foundation. Gimbel added that it is hoped to get the project underway in the spring.

* * *

Site Donated.

According to the specifications for the new Friendly House, drawn by Charles Conklin, local architect, the building will be set on lots 8208, 8209, and 8210 on North Mulberry street. This site was donated to the Friendly House by Carl Sternbaum, 165 Vale avenue, as a memorial to his son, Lt. Jacob Sternbaum, killed in May, 1944, when his plane crashed in the Himalaya mountains.

Approximate size of the site, Conklin said, is 135 feet on the north, 117 feet on the east, 129 feet on the south and 120 feet on the west.

Todd said that adjoining lots to the south and east are to be purchased and used for service drives, future nursery building and a playground. Space will be allowed to the front of the building for a dedication monument and flagpole.

* * *

Flexibility Provided.

The two-story, fireproof building, Conklin said, will accommodate the needs and flexibility of the Friendly House program. The building, as drawn, will take care of a membership of between 1,000 and 1,500 with between 300 and 600 in the building at one time. The auditorium and gymnasium will be scaled to accommodate at least 1,500.

Gimbel said that the active enrollment at the Friendly House at present is between 700 and 800 boys and girls who take part in daily activities. From 300 to 400 more, who are not enrolled, take part in special activities, such as dances and clubs. The summer program for which an average of 250 to 300 children enroll, rounds out an estimated 1,500 attendance of Friendly House.

Friendly House, Gimbel said, serves 27 nationalities here, and of the total enrollment, one-third of the children are of the Catholic faith.

* * *

Gym on First Floor.

First floor of the new settlement house will include a gymnasium, storage space of gym equipment, showers and toilets; auditorium or canteen, control office, meeting room, library, check room for auditorium and club room for older boys and girls.

The auditorium will be directly connected with the gymnasium by folding doors and will include a stage large enough for skits or plays. A chair storage will be under the stage and service from the preparation kitchen will be arranged. Men's and women's rest rooms will be located adjacent to the auditorium.

The central control office for all members, coming or going, will be at least 200 square feet, Conklin said. The meeting room on the first floor will be duplicated on the second floor, each being 300 square feet minimum.

* * *

6,000-Book Library.

From 3,500 to 6,000 books will be shelved in the library. The boys' and girls' club room, to be divided by temporary screens, is planned to take up 600 square feet.

Two club rooms, 300 to 400 square feet in size for general use, will be located in the basement. Also in the basement will be a woodworking shop, a large game room under the gymnasium with space for boxing, a four-stall garage, boiler and fuel rooms.

Living quarters for the administrator, including living room, kitchen, bath, bedroom and storage space, will be located on the second floor. Quarters for two staff members, consisting of two bedrooms, bath and storage, will also be provided. Other space will be taken up by a 300 to 400 square feet dormitory for girls; a girls' lounge and social room to measure 350 to 400 square feet; a nursery, 600 feet square with adjacent toilets and a small kitchen to prepare foods for the children; and storage for the nursery department.

The plan is to use the nursery space for a girls' club room when the nursery is moved to the new annex, Conklin said.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Maybe this has been a tough year on football coaches, but the turnover won't be anything like it has been in college basketball since last season. . . . Every Eastern Intercollegiate league team, for example, will operate under a new coach; the Big Nine has two newcomers, one returnee—branch McCracken at Indiana—and one who took over in mid-season last winter.

The Big Six lists three changes and there's no counting the others except to mention that Notre Dame, Navy, Georgetown, Seton Hall, Alabama, Georgia, Auburn and North Carolina are just some of the schools which changed tutors. . . . And basketball always was—and still is—a sport in which a coach can stick around permanently as Doc Carlson, Phog Allen, Not Holman, Hank Iba, Buck Read and a few others seem to be doing.

Ohio Colleges Get Underway In Full Force

The Ohio college basketball campaign gets underway in full force this week with no less than 45 games on the schedule.

Bowling Green is the busiest quintet with five games on tap for a six-day period. The Falcons play George Pepperdine tonight then have double headers scheduled Wednesday and Saturday.

Bluffton and Western Michigan are on Wednesday's card while the Bee Gees meet Western Kentucky and Wilmington on their Saturday iron man program.

Harold Anderson's rugged Falcons piled up their fifth straight victory of the season Saturday night when they defeated Central Michigan, 65 to 58.

In other games tonight, Wilmington travels to Earlham and Cedarville is at Morris Harvey.

With the exception of Bowling Green and Ohio State, a 39-33 winner over Pittsburgh, Buckeye teams had rough sailing in major intersectional battles over the week-end.

Eastern Kentucky State Teachers defeated Akron, 42 to 40, in a thriller. Kentucky carried far too many guns for Cincinnati and romped over the Bearcats, 80 to 49. Miami fell before Indiana, 69 to 36.

GAME COSTLY AS LOU GROZA INJURES LEG

Cleveland Meets Yanks For Title on Dec. 22.

By RALPH RODEN

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Western division champion Cleveland Browns ended their All America conference football schedule by establishing a circuit scoring record but Coach Paul Brown's crew may be without the services of Lou Groza, their top scorer, for the championship tilt with the New York Yankees, Eastern division winners, Dec. 22.

Groza, who also leads the loop in scoring, was carried off the Ebbets field turf with a leg injury in the third quarter yesterday as the Barons were routing the Brooklyn Dodgers, 66-14.

Before Groza left the gridiron, he had boosted his point total to 85 by booting a field goal and four conversions.

The Browns who earlier in the week had trounced Miami, 34-0, piled up a 28-0 halftime lead and then crunched over 17 points in the third heat and 21 in the final to break the former mark of 62 points rung up by the Los Angeles Dons when they trounced the Buffalo Bisons, 62-14 a week ago.

Cleveland also gained 358 yards through the air to eclipse the former figure of 344 established by the Dons.

Otto Graham was the big gun in the Browns attack, completing seven of ten passes including two touchdown heaves for 148 yards to pass Brooklyn's Glenn Dobbs for the circuit lead in total yards gained with 1,834 to Dobbs' 1,699. A leg injury kept Dobbs out of the game.

In the only other game, the San Francisco 49ers, clinched second place in the west by battering Los Angeles, 48-7.

Frankie Albert pitched three touchdown passes to pace the 49er attack as they rolled to three six-pointers in the first quarter, one in the third and three more in the last.

The Yanks will close out their regular season tonight at Miami.

Giants' Hopes Rest With Team Doctor

NEW YORK—(UP)—The New York Giants, who won the Eastern division title of the National Football league yesterday with a 31 to 0 victory over Washington that was a marvel of team play, today put their hopes for victory in next Sunday's playoff with the Bears in the hands of one man.

The one man is Dr. Francis Sweeney, entrusted with the job of repairing Bill Paschal, the Giants' ace runner, who suffered a jaw injury and a shoulder bruise in the third quarter of yesterday's romp. Dr. Sweeney said he believed the jaw was broken, but that possibly it could be wired together to enable Paschal to play against George Halas' Bears.

Chicago showed that it is in fine shape for the championship game by trouncing Detroit, 45 to 24, and in other games yesterday the Los Angeles Rams clinched second place in the western half with a 38 to 17 conquest of Green Bay, and the Philadelphia Eagles won second place in the east by dropping Boston, 40 to 14.

The Giants never gave Washington a chance. The New York line functioned perfectly, outcharging the Redskins from the start, and the sterling forward play gave Frank Filchock opportunity to put on a great passing show.

Ken Strong kicked a field goal and four extra points to raise his all-time Giant total to 319 points, tying him for the lead with Ward Cuff.

Cleveland Rebels Win One, Lose One Over Week-End

Standings of both divisions in the Basketball Association of America remained unchanged today after a weekend schedule of seven games.

The New York Knickerbockers, pacing the association's eastern division by a full game, showed little mercy in walloping the tail-end Boston Celtics on two successive nights.

The St. Louis Bombers continued to pace the western division, although their lead was cut to two games Saturday night when the Chicago Stags edged the Cleveland Rebels, 86 to 78, while the Bombers were losing to the Philadelphia Warriors, 57 to 47.

Two other games Saturday night saw the Providence Steamrollers nip the Toronto Huskies, 59 to 58, at Providence, and the Washington Capitols edge the Detroit Gems, 75 to 64, at Washington.

The Cveleland Rebels grabbed a 72 to 66 victory from the Philadelphia Warriors at Cleveland last night.

Barons Out To Set Hockey Record

The Cleveland Barons had their eyes on a new American Hockey league record of consecutive wins today.

They will go after number eight in Pittsburgh against the tough Hornets, currently in second spot behind the Clevelanders in western division standings, Wednesday night.

The present loop record of 11 straight triumphs was set in 1943-44.

The Hershey Bears pulled another point ahead of the Barons in league standings by deadlocking the Providence Reds, 3-all, last night, while the Cleveland club was idle.

Junior Cage Loop Plays

Marshall Market-Roseland tilt opens the second week of cage play in the Junior basketball league at the Friendly House court tonight at 6:30. In the other two games, Saprano's Cigar store meets the Wild Cats and Junior Optimists face the Mansfield Plumbers.

After 42nd Knockout

Plenty of Work In Store For Buck Cagers

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Tippy Dye, Ohio State University's half-pint basketball coach, blueprinted an abundance of work for his Bucks today after seeing them in action for the first time Saturday night.

The Bucks squeezed by Pittsburgh in the opener at the coliseum, 39 to 33, before a capacity crowd of 7,663.

Dye has nearly two weeks to ready his squad for their next test. The Bucks leave Dec. 18 for a four-game swing along the Pacific Coast. The series opens Dec. 21 against the University of Washington at Seattle.

Ohio State piled up a 21-11 first half lead against the Panthers Saturday, but lost the margin early in the second half. Substitute Forward Jim Harris sparked a late Buck drive that salvaged a victory.

Freshmen Les Pugh topped Buck scoring with 12 points. Harris and Center Jack Underman followed with eight apiece. Sam David of Pitt had ten.

Warren Amling, football co-captain who didn't report for basketball until last Tuesday, was a big factor in the second-half Buck spurt. He was thrown into the breach when Captain Paul Huston was shaken up in a fall.

The victory was Ohio's 22nd straight at home. It also marked the Bucks return to the state fairgrounds coliseum, from which they had been barred since 1942 by wartime army activities.

Galion Tigers Meet Delaware

GALION — Galion's high school cagers will be after their initial 1946-47 victory tomorrow night against Delaware Willis, in the Tigers first home appearance.

Lima Central handed Galion High its second defeat in pro-Northern Ohio league games Saturday night at Lima, 39-33. Galion led at the end of the third quarter, 32-25, and was out in front by four points five minutes before the game ended but Central put on a burst of scoring that overcame the visiting quintet.

Bill Sharp of Lima with 16 points and Price of Galion with 14 led the scorers.

The Lima Central junior varsity won the preliminary contest from Galion's Jayvees, 36-26.

Ben Hogan was first with $42,556; Herman Barron, White Plains, second, $23,003; Byron Nelson, Roanoke, Tex., third, $22,270; Jimmy Demaret, Houston, Tex., fourth, $19,406, and Herman Keiser, Akron, Ohio, fifth, $18,934.40.

Danish Postal Clerk's Idea Gave Start To Colorful Seal

A Danish postal clerk who didn't always have his mind on peddling stamps is responsible for an idea which today is doing battle the world over against one of mankind's worst diseases.

The colorful little Christmas seals sold each year to raise anti-tuberculosis funds, was the brain child of Elinar Holboell, of Copenhagen, Denmark.

Now, 42 years after the seals first brightened the Christmas packages of the Danes, their sale in as much a part of an America's Yuletide as Santa Claus.

* * *

THE SALE OF SEALS IN this country was started in 1908 by a woman, Miss Emily Bissell, a Red Cross worker who was out to set up a $300 open air hospital for TB patients.

Instead of providing $300 the campaign had more startling results. It raised $3,000 and started an' American tradition.

In Richland county this year, the fund to be raised through sale of the seals is $12,500. Virtually all of the money will be used locally. Today more than half of the goal has been reached as the Christmas dead-line stands a little more than two weeks away.

* * *

SAID DR. H. G. KNIERIM, acting city-county health commissioner: "Because tuberculosis is one of the gravest threats to community health today, everyone should back efforts being made to control the disease.

"The Richland County Tuberculosis association is engaged in a campaign to prevent the spread of tuberculosis.

"The work of the association is carried out with the cooperation of the health department: we should all help support its work by generous purchase of Christmas seals.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

The Wall Street Journal tells about an old Nevada judge whose methods of doling out justice were just a wee bit arbitrary.

One morning he opened court with the following announcement, "Gents, I have in hand a check—a bribe you could call it, I guess—from the plaintiff for $10,000 and another from the defendant for $15,00. I propose to return $5,000 to the defendant, and then will decide the case strictly on its merits."

* * *

"I can't tell you how long I have labored on this manuscript," the aspiring writer told the producer, "polishing a scene here, adding a line there, eliminating scenes, and adding new characters." "What a pity," said the producer, handing it back to him "All work—and no play."

One of the authors of "Girl Crazy" encountered George Gershwin's father at intermission time of the premiere. (George of course, had composed the score.) "Think it's going well?" asked the author. "My boy," Papa Gershwin assured him, "it's a smack."

PILES ARE NEVER MILD

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

The Right Balance!
Why MIRACLEANING Is "Balanced" Cleaning

Some dry cleaning methods ignore the essential steps required to properly balance the "removal" properties of solvent, with the retention of life-retaining fabric dressings. MIRACLEAN processes scientifically balance the "take-up" of fabric dressings by the cleaning solvent, replacing the same proportionate amount needed by the fabric to retain its natural softness. That's why Miracleaned garments wear better and last longer . . . and why balanced dressing replacement helps the garment to hold its press longer. MIRACLEAN service goes right to your door . . . phone for it NOW!

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

HAPPY JACK ISN'T HAPPY

Every one knows Happy Jack Squirrel, he of the gray coat, the big broad tail and the friendly happy disposition. Of all the Squirrel folk he is readiest to make friends with Man. He is at home in the Green Forest but also at home in the Old Orchard and in dooryard trees.

Happy Jack has his own ideas as to the best way of providing in times of plenty for times when food is scarce and it is hard for those who are not thrifty. His ways are not the ways of his cousins. He hunts for acorns and nuts in the fall just as they do, but instead of storing them away in a hollow tree or log or some similar safe place or places he buries most of them in the ground, or tucks them under fallen leaves or down in matted grass, or under things on the ground, one here and one there. Seldom does he put more than two or three in a place.

"If I should put all in one place some one might find my storehouse and rob me of all, but by scattering them around the way I do no one can find more than a few at most and those I won't miss," says Happy Jack.

He and his small cousin, Chatterer the Red Squirrel, do not agree at all on how to provide for the winter. Chatterer believes in good secret storehouses, usually more than one, storehouses he can get to at any time no matter what the weather. But the two cousins seldom agree on anything, so it is not surprising that they so strongly disagree in this matter.

This winter snow had fallen early and there had been much of it. That in itself was bad for Happy Jack because under the snow those buried nuts and acorns were harder to find. Of course. Have you ever seen him dig down through snow and presently come up with a nut or acorn buried weeks before there was any snow? How does he do it? Does he remember where each is buried? Does he smell those nuts and acorns through inches of snow? What a nose that would be! Or does he have a something of which we know nothing, a something which is neither remembrance nor smell, but perhaps something called instinct, something which leads him straight to what he needs without his knowing how? Anyway he does find buried nuts and acorns under the snow.

But when there is a crust, a hard, icy crust, even instinct, if that is what it is, fails him, and this day there was such a crust. He had discovered it as soon as he was out of his hollow tree home early in the morning. It wasn't a happy discovery. No, sir, it wasn't at all a happy discovery. In fact, Happy Jack was anything but happy. And minute by minute he grew more unhappy. Have you ever tried to be happy on an empty stomach? Happy Jack's stomach was empty. Of course nothing can be emtier than empty, so his empty stomach got no emptier as he ran about, but Happy Jack wouldn't have believed that he had been told so. He would have said that his stomach was getting emptier all the time, just as he was getting unhappier all the time.

The trouble was that he couldn't dig through that hard, icy crust. There was plenty to eat but it was locked up. Jack Frost had locked it up and there was no one to unlock it for him. Do you wonder that he was unhappy?

He saw his cousin, Chatterer the Red Squirrel. Chatterer wasn't unhappy. Not a bit of it. He had been to one of his storehouses, a hollow in a big branch of a certain tree, and now was breakfasting on a fat nut he had taken from it. He didn't offer to share his breakfast with Happy Jack. He didn't even appear sorry for his big cousin in the silvery gray coat.

"Perhaps now you'll learn the only way to store food for the winter—in a storehouse the way I do," he taunted.

Happy Jack wasn't happy. No, sir, he wasn't happy.

The next story: "Cold, Hungry and Forlorn."

British settlers in substantial numbers first arrived at the Cape of Good Hope in 1820.

LEVI DICK, 64, DIES OF BURNS IN STOVE BLAST

Kerosene Stove Explodes in Shelby Home.

SHELBY — Funeral services for Levi Dick, 64, who died Saturday night of burns received when a kerosene stove exploded in his home, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Barkdull funeral home.

Mr. Dick, a lifelong resident of Richland county, received the fatal burns at 3:45 p. m. Saturday when the stove exploded in his home in the Beechwood addition.

He died at Memorial hospital of multiple burns on the face and body three hours after the explosion.

* * *

Native of Richland.

Mr. Dick was born in Richland county on July 21, 1882, and had lived in Shelby for 40 years. He was a ditch digger.

Fred Hien Looks Back On 58 Years as Barber

By AL PREYER

It's a far cry from the days of "shave and a haircut, two bits" to the present dollar haircut era, but Fred Hien, 76, whose 58 years of barbering practice earn him the distinction of being longest employed at the profession in Mansfield, looks back on those days "without regrets."

"Those days, back in 1888, when I first started to barber, were really tough," Hien related. "Our hours then were 6:30 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily and to 2 a. m. on Saturdays.

"Not only that we worked every holiday of the year—New Year's, Christmas and Thanksgiving being no exceptions.

"In those days barber shop service was a rather limited affair, haircuts, shaves and shampoos being the items offered. We did have a specialty that has dwindled since those early days-dying hair and mustaches.

"But one thing that has never been limited in the barbering business has been conversation.

* * *

"THE GREATEST CHANGES in the profession since I started have been the number of devices and extra services that have been added to our list," Hien continued.

"Outstanding are the electric hair cutter, violet ray, massages, etc. A person can really get 'shined up' in a barber shop today."

"I was born in Mansfield in 1870," Hien said, "and attended Hedges school. I used to carry my brother-in-law's lunch to him at the barber shop he owned. In 1888 I found myself his apprentice.

"By 1900 I was ready to branch out on my own, and I opened a shop in the old Von Hof hotel. I have been on my own ever since.

* * *

"MY HOBBIES ARE 'HORSE-opera' and comic pictures—any kind that will afford me relaxation. I also like to work with flowers and to garden in general. Once in awhile I go fishin'!"

"My advice to young fellows interested in the barbering profession today would be—'don't go into it unless you're prepared for hard work,'" Hien said. "While it's true that through unionization we've managed to improve our working conditions so that we have fairly regular hours and holidays, there's still lots of work in the business."

Hien, who lives at 100 Helen avenue, is a member of the K of P, Sons of Union Veterans, and a lifelong member of the First English Lutheran church.

510 Russell road, left Mansfield last September after he was assigned to the Georgia-Florida-Alabama area for the Tappan Stove company. He and Mrs. McLaren live in Orlando, Fla.

While the McLarens were in Mansfield, Mrs. McLaren was secretary of the Tuberculosis Rehabilitation service and previously was supervisor at the Richland County TB sanatorium on Lexington avenue.

Death toll in the Atlanta fire, greatest hotel fire in the nation's history, remained at 120 today, but 11 of the 64 injured persons who remained in hospitals were in serious condition, and the toll was expected to climb.

Meanwhile the disaster came up for multiple investigations today amid a futile search for the origin of the fire.

City, county and national probes were ordered. They coincided with demands for more stringent safeguards against such tragedies.

Solicitor General E. E. Andrews arranged conferences with the city fire marshal, firemen, fire underwriters and grand jury foreman Henry Chandler. He said a Fulton County (Atlanta) grand jury would study Saturday's predawn fire to determine if there had been any criminal negligences. The jury will meet tomorrow.

Gov. Ellis Arnall criticized the hotel's rating as "fire resistant" and asked legislation against such a claim.

As sheet shreds still flapped from upper windows in mute testimony of many attempts to flee, the Red Cross casualty list carried the names of 112 identified dead. Five blackened bodies had been unclaimed. Five were listed as missing. The Red Cross said it was possible that the unidentified were the five missing.

Let Christmas Season Be Peaceful

WITH coal miners returning to work today, in compliance with the Saturday afternoon order by John L. Lewis, prospects are brightened for a normal observance of the Christmas season.

The lights that had awaited removal of restrictions will gleam tonight in communities all over the country and the holiday spirit, which had been dampened by the grim outlook for a cheerless Christmas, reappeared as suddenly as it had disappeared three weeks ago when Lewis gave his fateful ultimatum, "No contract, no work."

Now—at least until the first of the year—it may be hoped that strikes and strike threats can be kept in abeyance, and thought given to ways in which amicable adjustment of labor disputes can be reached, rather than that the discord which has greatly retarded progress during 1946 be carried into the new year.

More Thousands Shop In Mansfield

LAST WEEKEND served to give further convincing proof of Mansfield's expanding retail trading area as thousands of visitors from vicinity points were attracted to local stores to do their Christmas shopping and buying.

It also demonstrated the powerful influence of consistent newspaper advertising in carrying merchandising messages to residents of Mansfield, Richland and adjoining counties.

As a city is judged by its industries; its churches and various other constructive agencies; its parks, playgrounds and residential sections, and its retail stores, it is also judged by its newspaper, and the increasing acceptance of The News-Journal as the "home newspaper" in this north-central Ohio area is not only gratifying but it also tends to give impetus to a steadily-held determination to provide its patrons—readers and advertisers alike—with the best possible newspaper service, in completeness of coverage and attractiveness of appearance.

Temporary shortage of paper has created a problem for The News-Journal, as well as many other daily newspapers, in providing space for all of the news, features, various departments, and advertising that would otherwise make up the daily issues, but this is accepted as unavoidable during the reconversion period and brightening prospects are foreseen for 1947.

Atlanta Holocaust Sounds Warning

SUCH a catastrophe as that of the Atlanta, Ga., hotel fire. with its frightful loss of life, gives emphasis to the urgency of providing greater safeguards in public places which patrons assume are safe.

Information is to the effect that there were no outside fire-escapes on this 15-story hotel building, because it was classed as "fire resistant," and met requirements of a safety code when it was erected in 1914.

It can now be seen, however, that this was not enough—that scores lost their lives because there was no means of escape from the flames that engulfed the high-up rooms in which helpless victims were trapped.

Devastating hotel fires have occurred too frequently in recent years to permit such occurrences to go unchallenged as to the responsibility of public authorities and property owners to place the element of safety as the highest consideration, rather than original cost, operating expenses and profits.

Municipal Parking Lot Needed

SOME show of interest by the Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Merchants association, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and other civic-minded groups, would seem advisable in the matter of providing a municipal parking lot within convenient walking distance of Mansfield's central business section.

This has been talked about for a long time—and is a generally recognized need—but nothing has been done about it, nor is anything likely to be done unless it is taken up in a more definite way than has yet been evidenced.

Traffic congestion over last weekend, with available street parking space and commercial lots entirely inadequate, serves to emphasize the importance of speedy action along this line—in accord with Mansfield's other steps toward progress.

Wanted, Students of Chinese Language

NOT ENOUGH Americans know foreign languages. This familiar fact has just received a new application. More Americans should know Chinese, says Prof. Lo Ch'uan Fang of Franklin Marshall college, Pennsylvania. More than 400,000,000 people speak it, far more than those who speak Spanish or French, which it has long been a tradition to study. While so far we have got along without a knowledge of the language, that will be harder as time goes on. Dr. Lo therefore makes the very moderate recommendation that "some Americans should learn Chinese."

A few do, of course, and several American universities give courses in it. Those studying it find that while Chinese is by no means an easy language, it is less difficult than Japanese, and the literature is said to be rewarding.

Shaving Mugs Prized As Antiques

A RACK containing 144 long unused shaving mugs lines a little barber shop in Milford, Mass. Many of them have been there since 1888, ever since the two proprietors went into business. One barber is 88, the other 86, and they have been together all these years, without a rift in their friendship, and without a vacation.

That's a record for partnership, but a good many people will be even more interested in those shaving mugs. Collecting these has become a lively fad with antique-chasers Time was when every well groomed man had a mug in his favorite barber shop. Some of these china cups were elaborately decorated with flower garlands. or with symbols of the owner's trade, like a picture of horse and coach for the stage driver, chisel and saw for the carpenter. And most of them carried the owner's initials in gilt letters.

Those two octogenerian barbers will have no trouble disposing of the old relics of days that are gone if ever they need to turn an honest dollar outside their regular trade.

News item says: "South Africa considers housing its principal postwar problem"—which seems like making an unnecessarily long trip to get such a news item.

It was in speaking of equality, no doubt, that one observer noted: "After all, West Point and Slippery Rock State Normal use the same size football."

Spanish Controversy Gaining Heat, Opposing Ideologies Block Accord

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

ARGUMENTS in the United Nations political committee over how to deal with the Spanish regime have been hot, and they have been frank about Franco, but while the consensus is that the generalissimo's government must go, there is no unanimity about how to get rid of it.

The debates have ranged a wide field, but so far as I have noted nobody has ventured to put his finger on the basic cause of the differences among the UN members. Yet that cause is as plain as my Aberdeen terrier's long nose.

It's the same old ideological war that has produced the two great blocs—the Russian-dominated nations and the Western democracies.

One bloc wants to get rid of the Franco regime in such manner as will result in the establishment of a soviet, while the other wishes to give the people of Spain a chance to have a really free election and pick their own government.

It's all very well to sit outside Spain in the robes of a prophet and guess what sort of government Spaniards want. But I was in that country early this year and don't believe there is any living person, in Spain or outside it, who knows how the people would vote in a free plebiscite.

They might want a return of their monarchy, or they might declare for a republic. It's a matter of pure speculation, because they haven't had a free election in more than a decade.

Of one thing your correspondent is very certain. The people of Spain don't want any more civil war. The horrors of the last one are too fresh in most minds. And it's very obvious that unless the United Nations handle this highly complicated situation very carefully, civil war might be precipitated.

The United States already has noted this danger of civil strife officially and has taken a stand against any UN operation which might produce such a catastrophe Britain and most of the Western democracies take a similar view. The French government, acting under very strong Communist influence, is for strong-arm tactics in getting rid of Franco.

Senator Tom Connally set forth the American viewpoint succinctly before the UN political committee the other day. He reiterated U. S. opposition to Franco and said he would welcome any democratic change in Spain which would protect basic human rights and freedoms

Uncle Sam will take part in any necessary action against the present regime, under the UN charter, if and when this regime becomes a threat to international peace and security.

Pending such an eventuality America is opposed to coercive measures by the United Nations, such as severance of diplomatic relations or the imposition of economic sanctions. Britain agrees with that.

While we are on the topic of civil war it's well to vote that civil war in Spain—or civil war in Greece, such as now is developing—could very easily produce another world conflict.

Greece maintains that the left wing revolt within her borders is being inspired from without, which makes the situation doubly delicate, because she herself is backed by Britain and her Balkan neighbors are in the Russian fold. Civil war in Spain could produce an even more menacing position.

WASHINGTON—It may be getting a bit trite to say that an era has ended, which was first said about the election a month ago.

But it is the most important fact about what goes on in Washington, and once you accept that fact and have the key it is much easier to understand it all these days.

The most vivid example of the end of an era was what happened to Wilson Wyatt, housing expediter, who was called here in the familior New Deal manner to do something about veterans' housing.

He developed a program that was getting houses built, and now, suddenly and rudely, has been sacrificed to selfish private building and real estate interests who want to let down the bars, shake off government restraints, and get theirs quickly.

Just 10 months ago President Truman opened a long message to congress on the critical housing shortage thus·

"When I called Mr Wilson Wyatt to Washington I gave him only one instruction: To 'make no little plans'."

The vigorous former mayor of Louisville took him at his word He made no little plans. He made big plans that contemplated the use of the government's resources to tackle what he called then "a very important domestic problem" and what he described at his farewell press conference as "the No. I domestic problem." That hardly seems an exaggeration.

Somebody asked Mr. Wyatt what reasons the president gave him for dropping support of his program now. Mr. Wyatt was too much the Kentucky gentleman to answer, and thus failed to satisfy the eager itch for a dramatic quote or two among those assembled for the biggest press conference, outside of White House affairs, that has occurred here in some months. The size of itself was evidence of the public interest in this issue.

But what Mr. Wyatt failed to say everybody here now knows. That is that the advisers with whom the president is now surrounded interpreted the election as a mandate to call a halt to Mr Wyatt's proposed broad-scale use of government facilities, including RFC loans, and government controls to build houses—or to do anything else. That interpretation suits their thinking, for they are conservative-minded gentlemen.

They have, in fact, accepted the end of an era which, under the Roosevelt New Deal, marshaled government resources to meet a depression and a war. They are not disposed to regard the aftermath of war in the same light. Even the last Republican president, Herbert Hoover, used government resources to meet the onslaught of depression. The RFC was his creation.

There is some doubt here whether the administration has clearly interpreted the election. Mr. Wyatt does not see it as a mandate to drop controls and the use of emergency powers for housing

If one who was about the country in the election campaign can throw in his two cents worth, it seemed that what the people wanted was more action from Washington of a helpful sort, more speed in housing, rather than less.

They had lost confidence in the administration generally, and housing was lumped along with everything else, despite the efforts of Mr. Wyatt to get things done.

Mr. Wyatt was not so polite about some private building interests They want to make a quick profit, he explained, and he wondered if they wouldn't price themselves out of the market and jeopardize the long-time prosperity of their businesses.

It is obvious that the whole problem will be dumped on congress in January, and Republicans will have a wonderful opportunity to do something about it—if they will take it.

MacArthur and War Department Refute Each Other's Statements

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The war department and General MacArthur are supposed to be a part of the same army team, but apparently one of them doesn't always believe in letting "the right hand see what the left hand doeth."

When this column recently published the text of a secret telegram from MacArthur in which he proposed barring the special correspondents of the Christian Science Monitor, New York Herald Tribune, San Francisco Chronicle and others from Japan, an explosive statement was immediately issued by MacArthur. It was reported by the United Press from Tokyo as follows:

"A spokesman for General MacArthur denied reports of columnist Drew Pearson that the supreme commander had banned several newspapers from Japan, including the Chicago Sun, New York Herald Tribune, 'PM' and the San Francisco Chronicle.

"'There is not the slightest truth' in those assertions, a GHQ public relations officer said."

But within an hour of the MacArthur statement, the war department confirmed the accuracy of the MacArthur cable as reported by this column. Here is the United Press report from the war department:

"The war department declined comment on a report by Drew Pearson that Gen. MacArthur banned representatives of several important newspapers from making a trip to Japan.

"The army said the only comment that could be made would have to come from MacArthur.

"Reliable war department sources said Pearson quoted correctly from the text of a cable from MacArthur to the war department. They said the officer or civilian who disclosed the information to Pearson would probably be court martialed for violating security if his identity were discovered.

"Other war department sources said the text of Pearson's column had been radioed to MacArthur."

Note—MacArthur, in his cable to the war department, had lumped the staunch Republican New York Herald Tribune and the San Francisco Chronicle along with the Communist Daily Worker, the liberal PM and the pro-Democratic Chicago Sun and accused them all of "downright quackery and dishonesty." He said he did not want representatives of these papers making a special tour of Japan.

More Bilbo Scandals.

Later this week, the senate Kilgore committee begins its probe of the ramified and variegated war contract activities of Mississippi's raucous Senator Theodore Bilbo. This investigation is separate from the senate election committee probe of Bilbo's terroristic campaign against Negroes.

Last October this column reported extensively on "Little Theodore's" dream lake and dream island, dredged out for him by war contractors Michael Morrissy and B. L. Knost, who got army jobs building Keesler Field and Key Field for several million dollars. On the island in the lake, the two contractors also built "Little Teddy" a house and then bought him $1,000 of furniture to go in the house, plus a $1,912 Cadillac car in which to enjoy himself driving around the lake.

On top of this Morrissy and Knost also contributed $1,000 each to the "Juniper Grove Baptist Church," a device by which Bilbo collected around $18,000 tax-free supposedly for a parsonage.

However, aside from a measly $150 given to the parson, the church never got the money. The parsonage was erected on Bilbo's land, not the church's, and the money stayed in Bilbo's bank account.

All of the above leads into another nice new chapter in the war scandals of the senator from Mississippi, who was just as good at rooking churches as he was inspiring the beating of helpless Negroes

One of the men who contributed cash to the "Juniper Grove Baptist Church Special Fund" was Maurice T. Reed of Belsonia, Miss., who, through Bilbo's assistance, got an army contract for the Jackson, Miss., air base at a cost of $1,459,710.

Selling West Point Short.

Reed coughed up $3,500 to Bilbo, but since he wanted to be able to deduct it from his income tax, he insisted on paying it to the church fund rather than to Bilbo. Of course, in the end, it amounted to the same thing. Following this, Bilbo turned round and got Reed's son a coveted appointment to West Point.

The records of the U. S military academy show that Maurice T. Reed, jr., entered West Point July 1, 1944, and flunked out in June, 1946. The official record says: "Discharged because of deficiencies in study."

In other words, young Reed didn't have the proper educational qualifications to enter West Point in the first place, and probably wouldn't have got in had it not been for the $3,500 his father paid Senator Bilbo. In other words also, the taxpayers wasted a minimum of $10,000 sending young Reed to West Point for two years—a total loss.

Finally, there is the fact that young Reed got into the coveted military academy in 1944 while the war was still on, and anyone entering at that time was certain not to face combat until the war was over.

Note—The Kilgore committee also has been probing alleged Bilbo sales of appointments to Annapolis, including a reported payment of $1,500 by Leon R. Bramlett of Clarksdale, Miss., to get his son into the naval academy and of $1,500 from Andrew Carr, also of Clarksdale, for the same purpose. Both boys are at Annapolis now.

John L Lewis Fires 'Em.

Here is how John L. Lewis deals with his own employes when they don't toe the line.

Last week a representative of the United Mine Workers walked into the office of Thomas G. Evans, regional director of UMW's District 50 in Knoxville, Tenn., and handed him a letter. Evans, for ten years employed by the miners, opened the letter. One glance told him what it was.

He was fired. In 13 months Evans had doubled the dues-paying members of John Lewis's District 50 in the state of Tennessee and neighboring parts of Kentucky, Virginia, and North Carolina. But he didn't agree with the big boss of the miners on various policies including the strike, and overnight found himself out of a job.

Drift Toward Force and Violence Seen.

WASHINGTON — One of the newly-elected senators came to Washington the other day. He saw the Capitol in darkness—darkened by the coal strike. There was the great shadowy building and, on top, the Statue of Freedom just faintly visible

This new senator—Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin—stood there a long time looking at the darkened Capitol He had been with the air arm of the marines in the Solomons during the early part of the war. He had seen some of the fiercest fighting in the jungle of Guadalcanal.

The next day young McCarthy gave an interview. He said he thought John L. Lewis should be drafted into the army. Then Lewis should be ordered by the commander in chief to call his miners back to work. If he refused, he should be courtmartialed A court-martial could order Lewis shot

To most of us, that has a shocking sound. It is so contrary to everything we think of as the American way of life, to the spirit of fair play, the reasonableness, the willingness to compromise.

But we cannot ignore the fact that the proposal comes from a young veteran, a new Republican senator. It comes out of the same sense of frustration that millions of Americans feel as they see the productive machine slowly brought to a standstill. And this, it appears, by the power of a single individual who defies government, who defies order and law.

The nation is today in mortal peril. The drift is toward something alien, something—in that much abused word—un-American. It is toward force and violence. That is evident not in the coal crisis alone but in other labor disputes.

Nothing is ever as simple as it seems, and the picture of the coal strike has been greatly oversimplified. While the greatest share of the blame falls on Lewis, both the government and the operators are at fault.

On the day that sentence was imposed on Lewis and the miners' union, up until almost the last minute there were conferences looking toward a settlement. Reasonable men on the operators' side, such as Cyrus Eaton of Cleveland, hoped until the last that at least a temporary agreement could be reached.

As a compromise it was proposed that the mines be operated under the terms of the government contract while direct negotiations between the union and the operators went on. Powerful men among the operators refused to consider the government contract as a basis for negotiations

In the last-minute conferences, the position of the southern operators was adamant. They are determined that there shall be no more industry-wide bargaining.

The government, in taking over the mines last spring, put the operators in a very strategic position. The government pays the costs of administration out of government funds. The total cost is $105,000 a month, which does not include the rent on government office space in a number of cities.

The operators continue to get their profits just as though they were running the mines.

In response to a suggestion that the operators be made to pay the administrative costs, department of interior lawyers ruled that this was not possible under the terms of the agreement.

More important is the fact that, if the union is broken in the present showdown, the government and not the operators will have done it. That is a very comfortable position for the operators to occupy. They are absolved of all responsibility.

All this feeds the sense of public frustration. It feeds the sense of helplessness that Americans feel increasingly. Too many of us are beginning to forget that this nation can exist only by reasonable compromise. Forgetting can cost us all that we value.

Farmer's Diary: "New Upland Farm."

FREQUENTLY I walk up the continuous grade to the 30 acres of cleared, abandoned, farmed out land. My path is sheltered by a dark wall of tall branching woodland trees through which sometimes the late autumn gale rides with rough, gutteral tones about the trunks, rising to higher notes near the top.

This is a welcome introduction to what greets my senses farther on. For where the old house, barn and outbuildings once stood, is now only the tumbled wall of a barn and a gray skeleton of floor timbers with a chimney rising about them upon the shelflike site. The rock built spring house has crumbled down.

Here an old man and his wife had their home—a woodland, a cherry grove, and a well-kept garden. Each year the fields were cleared of stone heaved out by frost. Great piles of such native shale still lay along the borders and middle fences. But while this labor increased the ease of farming, it did not add to the value of the soil. From too frequent cropping the loose gravelly soil grew thinner every season, while the old man and his aged companion became feebler and less able to do their work.

Finally they moved to town with relatives, and while they lived the fine old home was kept. When they were gone, the house was sold to a wrecker, who carted away the timber for repair work—the barn blew over, and rotted down. Only the 10-acre woodland remained, and the clustering cherry trees and the thirty acres of farmed out hill.

Last fall, the property changed hands again. "Byers and Sons" will begin work there this coming spring. The poverty grass is thick so that passing feet sink in, as into a mattress padding—the old spring has ceased to flow. Only a line of moist earth and elder bushes, mark the watercourse. The thirty acres grows weeds and golden rod and poverty grass. In some places the land is bare. The vacant impoverished fields seem to shout for help—seem to fling a challenge.

We hope to lime, and sow soybeans—disk them under green in August, and sow the littered top to rye. If next winter the hill is green with a cover crop, we shall have made a beginning.

Dave Boone Says:

IT WOULD be sort of comforting if you could search through those long statements of Bill Green and Phil Murray and find, even with a microscope, one word expressing any concern for, or sympathy with, the millions of Americans who are the real sufferers in this present calamity caused by the coal strike.

* * *

Both Bill and Phil say our courts and our governments are guilty of coercion, tyranny, injustice and enforced servitude, and they scream that these can never be substitutes for "freedom, liberty, justice and democracy." But what muddles me are these questions:

"Are 140,000,000 Americans shoved ruthlessly around in the present crisis enjoying freedom?

"Is a frozen water pipe, a cold radiator, a blackout and an abbreviated Christmas package a symbol of liberty?

"Are the millions getting layoff notices enjoying justice?

"Are a kid with pneumonia and a little old lady standing in the cold waiting for a train that isn't running real proofs of democracy?"

I'm just asking.

Timely Editorial

Victory of the Abacus.

It probably doesn't make much practical difference, because modern occidental calculating machines are much too expensive to be used in the Orient for a long time to come; but the mounting victories of the ancient abacus over the up-to-date mechanical marvel proves only that practice makes perfect.

In consistently beating expert American operators in a series of speed contests, Japanese and Chinese abacus artists have won acclaim for their skill and respect for their simple contraption. The applause might even be louder if it were more widely understood that the abacus, as Rodney Gilbert points out in the Christian Science Monitor, isn't as simple as it appears.

Mr. Gilbert explains that professional accountants practice for hours daily when they are not working out actual problems.—Toledo Blade.

Barclay On Bridge

LEADING a low card from a suit headed by a single honor is nearly always fraught with some amount of danger. In most cases it risks the presentation of a gratuitous trick to the declarer, which he could not get otherwise, together with the hazard that it may doom your own honor never to take a trick unless it is the ace of trumps. A lead from a doubleton or trebleton king, or from a doubleton or trebleton jack or queen, is likely to throw away an otherwise sure trick. That identical principle applies also if you lead from four headed by a 10, especially in the trump suit.

Either North should have taken the 5-No Trumps to 6-No Trumps, or South should have shifted from 6-Spades to 6-No Trumps, if he had understood that North meant merely to be cue-bidding the spade A, instead of supporting the suit, for the purpose of helping South to decide between a small and grand slam in No Trumps.

With only seven trumps and the defenders holding the J and 10 located as they were, South was due for certain defeat, even with the important finesse working just right. That is, he was until he got some help. He did get some, on the very first lead, when West decided to lead a trump to prevent cross-ruffing. He happened to pick the 5 so it would be hard to read. But that made no difference. The moment he opened the suit at all, he assured the contract for South.

Declarer played the dummy's 6. East of course the J, and South the K. Reading the J as indicating lack of the 10, South finessed the spade 8, scored the A, led to the club A, dropped the spade 10 with the Q, went to dummy with the club K, finessed the hearts and ran out his small slam, giving up a diamond to the A at the end.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, December 10.

The astral influences on this day combine to encourage a definite and determined effort to forge ahead to the attainment of cherished goals in the way of productive and progressive lines, as well as in the realization of fondest hopes and wishes of a more intimate and personal cast. There is a promising vibration for increasing personal popularity, and advancement.

Those whose birthday it is have excellent prospects for forging ahead, with ambitious and lasting objectives in sight, under most benign and expansive influences. Promotion, enhanced prestige and popularity, growth in finance, credit and possessions, together with warming and felicitous developments in the home, professional, social and romantic relations, with much geniality and reassurance is forecast. But an undercurrent of treachery or intrigue bids sagacious, alert and restrained conduct, lest loss, fraud or waste occur.

Jottings in Pencil—Joe DiMaggio is convinced that his ailments are due to bad teeth. He has a flock of dental appointments. . . . Rose Marie was offered the top salary of her career to go into the Olsen and Johnson show coming to the Carnival next month, but she refuses to return to New York—afraid of more pappy trouble. . . . Sherman Billingsley will explode when he reads this: a massive sign in Chicago's "Loop" heralds the coming of a new "Stork Club, Inc." It not only uses the name for which he has battled in courts all over the country—but his trademark, the stork with the top hat and lifted knee. . . . Freddie Bartholomew is condensing his diary for publication. Implies it won't pull punches and will sizzle more than a little. . . . Local cabbies complain that their "take" is down 40 per cent since 1945. They blame traffic, the no parking edict and the beginning of the "recession." And bellhops at the Astor—Broadway's barometer of prosperity—say tips are down to almost nothing, "especially from the UN people."

The backer of Bess ("Miss America 1945") Meyerson's new all-girl band expects to reap plenty of profit from the money he will put into the new venture. He happens to be the owner of a chain of music schools—and his pupils will be given jobs in Bess' glamorous ork. . . . Of all the forewarned-is-forearmed characters in the world, the one who delights me most is the motion picture magazine editor who insists on having film stars sign affidavits swearing they will not get a divorce until his story on their blissful marriage has been published.

The Waldorf, with many of Gen. Eisenhower's staff now there, has more brass than the Pentagon. Some of the beribboned officers look almost as military as the bell captains. . . . When the "Park Avenue" notices (a good many adverse) came out, both producer and authors' names were removed from the advertisements. After a week, when the show began doing big business, the names went back. Sheer coincidence? . . . Clare Boothe Luce is writing an article for a woman's magazine on why she became a Catholic. She will give the very high fee involved to a Catholic children's home.

Attorney General Tom Clark is conferring with Hollywood magnates on a new film slant to alleviate the rising juvenile delinquency menace. . . . Heavens-to-Betsy note. Autograph seekers outside Cavanaugh's restaurant the other evening ignored Jane Russell and swamped Mayor O'Dwyer! . . . The dy Pat O'Brien made his Command Performance bow before the King and Queen of England happened also to be his birthday, so Pat Harrington cabled him congratulations in care of King George at Buckingham Palace. The cable was witty and a little on the frisky side. It missed O'Brien but got to the King, whose equerry had to communicate with the American Embassy to find Pat's U S. address. The equerry forwarded it by mail, but contradicted the tradition that Englishmen have no sense of humor by writing across it: "Jolly good message."
